APEX SHRAMAN SANGH SAINTS TO MEET IN 2011 AT DELHI

Dr. Shiv Muni, head of the sect and fourth Acharya of Jain Shwetambar Sthanakwasi Shraman Sangh has announced that a congregation of saints belonging to this order shall be held in 2011. In order to make efficient arrangements for this conference, an executive committee has been constituted under the chairmanship of Shri Sumati Lal Karnawat and presidentship of Kesari Mal Burad (Bangalore). Other active community members working for this conference are Nemi Chand Chopra (Pali), Paras Chajjer (Mumbai), Mohan Lal Chopra (Nasik), Ramesh Chand Jain (Delhi), Vimal Chand Dhariwal (Arkonam), Sher Singh Jain (Delhi), Bal Chand Khakhad (Mumbai), Amit Rai Jain (Barot), R. D. Jain (Delhi), Salek Chand Jain (Delhi), Jawari Lal Kankaria (Pali), Anand Prakash Jain (Delhi), Manmohan Jain (Mujaffar Nagar), Lal Chand Jain (Delhi) and Sukhbir Jain (Delhi). A formal announcement about formation of arrangement committee is expected shortly.

Mr. Nemi Chand Chopra, a prominent leader of Sthanakwasi Sect informed Ahimsa Times, that this is going to be an important event for the community happening after 23 years. Last congregation was organised in 1987 at Pune. Although in that summit, it was decided to hold similar events every 5 years, but, it could not be worked out. This will be an opportunity for prominent saints to discuss many issues face to face and also to remove some of the misunderstandings prevailing for quite some time. It will give a chance to the saint community to frame rules and regulations concerning their movements, lifestyle and rituals. The issue of discipline etc. can also be discussed. The convention will benefit all concerned. According to Mr. Sher Singh, another prominent community member and office bearer of All India Sthanakwasi Jain Conference, they are working on the arrangements including exact date, venue and agenda of the conference. More than five hundred saints are likely to participate in this mega event happening in Delhi. The senior prominent saints likely to be present include Acharya Shivmuni, sarvashri Saubhgya Muni (Kumud), Roop Muni (Rajat), Amar Muni, Ramesh Muni, Ravinder Muni, Jitendra Muni.

CRIME BRANCH TO INVESTIGATE CASES OF CHILD TRAFFICKING

The Crime Branch of the Delhi Police has been roped in to investigate the wider conspiracy behind a case of human trafficking, wherein kids were brought into the capital by a sadhvi and her accomplices and then sold to childless couples here. A 57-year-old sadhvi along with six others was arrested for allegedly kidnapping minor children and then selling them to childless couple. Delhi Police also claimed to have rescued four children, aged between one and seven years, from their clutches. Police said the gang used to operate in Delhi, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan. According to the police, the arrest came following complaints from parents of children kidnapped in past few months. Following the complaints, surveillance was mounted in Neb Sarai and Sangam Vihar areas and soon the cops tracked a woman and her husband who were trying to sell children, police said. The couple was identified as Mona (20) and her husband Afroz (21). They are in police custody and are being questioned.

Working on leads provided by the couple, police zeroed in on Sadhvi Binaji Maharaj of Khanpur. It was further revealed that the racket is spread in various parts of Delhi following which four more persons, including three women and a man, were picked up. During questioning, these four accused revealed that they used to kidnap children and took the abducted kids to the sadhvi. It was the sadhvi who struck deals with childless couples and sold the kids for anything between Rs 25,000 to Rs 1 lakh. The sadhvi used to keep a large portion of the ill-gotten money while the rest was distributed among the other gang members. Sources said the gang had been operating for the past two years and was allegedly involved in more than two dozen such cases. "We have taken them under police remand for questioning. The gang members would first conduct a reky in an area posing as salesmen, rag pickers and maids and after identifying the victim they would kidnap the child," said a senior police officer. The other accused have been identified as Afroz, Nanhi, Zuber, Khusboo, Mona and Saira — all are residents of Sangam Vihar and Khanpur. It is understood that so called Sadhvi Beenaji was disowned by the religious body of apex saints several years back. She was not participating in any known forum related with any Jain institution. She was misrepresenting to be a Jain Sadhvi.

THE JAIN RELIGION / BELIEF & PHILOSOPHY.....DIGMABER JAIN SAINTS - K. S. Jain E-Mail: kanwar_jain@yahoo.co.in - The people who get hurt after seeing the Sadhu nakedness are stuck at the skin level. Problem is with their way of looking at things and not with the underlying principle of Digambaratav. A child when born is also naked, why is it that we are never hurt looking at naked kids or looking at the mother feeding the babies. In fact that seems to be so pleasant. It is because we look at it with a different point of view.

Our mother sister and daughter and wife all are females but our feelings are different for each one of these relations. It is just the drishti with which we look at it. Drishti badalne se sansar badal jaata hai. In same way these veetragi sadhus who have conquered all their passions of kaam krodh and moh and lobh should not be compared by the ones who are still in the grip of passions. Shouldn't we change our perception of the nakedness of these sadhus who are doing Aatmik saadhna? We don't need clothes when we are kids, clothes are needed when we start looking at the world with the glasses of good/bad. Digambar Jain Sadhus observe 100% non violence and veetraagtaa by giving up all physical comforts and wants and they become as pure as kids. Just spend a day with these Jain munis and then you will understand the significance of their lifestyle. You might have read about it before but without understanding the philosophy, with this you have just burdened yourself with some information but not gained anything out of it. If you see nakedness in anyone be it Jain Muni or any other being, you have not conquered your own passions, so the problem is with the perspective. Get out of this trouble of Kaam Vaasna and you will feel free and light .. just like the Digambar Jain Munis.

EFFORTS BY JAIN SCHOLARS TO REVIVE SAMAN SUTTAM

A group of Jain scholars have organised a national seminar on Jainism with the aim of reviving a 36-year-old book that seeks to unite all the sects of the religion. The seminar involves 15 academic presentations on various facets of Saman Suttam, a book compiled from other Agamas (religious scriptures) by 300 Jain Acharyas and scholars from both the Digambar and Shwetambar Sects. The book, commissioned by freedom fighter and human rights advocate Vinoba Bhave, was completed in 1974. "Bhave's aim was to create a single text that explained the essence of Jain philosophy common to all sects," said Dr Geeta Mehta, a Jainology professor at K. J. Somaiya Centre for Studies in Jainism, which has organised this seminar at its campus. Written in the form of 756 Prakrit verses, the book has been translated into English, Hindi and Gujarati. But it did not bring about the much-desired unity and unification between sects as it had intended. "Each sect preferred to refer to its own texts rather than one which belongs to all," said

Dayanand Bhargava, a Jaipur based professor of Vedic religion. According to Acharya Sushil Muni, an eminent Jain Saint, "on the eve of 25th Nirvana Centenary of Lord Mahavira, whatever works have been contributed on national and international level, Saman Suttam is definitely the cream of the whole. I regard it as the greatest achievement. It is an orderly and brief compilation of the essential principles of Jain's religion and philosophy. The book was compiled by Sri Jinendra Varni, edited by Prof. Sagar Mal Jain and translated into English by Justice T. K. Tukol and Dr. K. K. Dixit. Its first edition was brought out in the year 1993 by Bhagwan Mahavir Memorial Samiti, New Delhi.

NEWLY PUBLISHED BOOKS

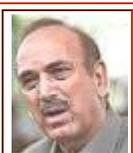

1. DR. ABDUL KALAM RELEASES RESEARCH VOLUME "ENIGMA OF THE UNIVERSE" WRITTEN BY MUNI SHRI MAHENDRA KUMAR - Former President of India, Dr. Abdul Kalam released a voluminous book named 'Enigma of the universe' authored by eminent Shwetambar Terapanth Jain saint, Muni Shri Mahendra Kumar Ji, on the occasion of a scientists meet, specially arranged at his residence in New Delhi on the 14th November, 2010. Dr. Kalam praised the book for its rich content, starting from questions like What is universe? How big is the universe? What is the shape and form of universe? What is the age of universe? etc. Different philosophers and scientists have attempted to answer these questions in the past and this research work carried out assiduously by Muni Shri is a fresh attempt in this direction, presenting a comparative study of science and philosophy. He suggested that Muni Shri Mahendra Kumar and noble laureate Steven Winsberg should meet and work together in the unified field theory. Shri T. K. Jain, President, Anuvrat Vishwa Bharati welcomed the guests and Shri Vimal Surana, Director of Delhi Anuvibha proposed a vote of thanks. The entire programme was efficiently conducted by Muni Shri Abhijit Kumar.

2. JAINISM, HISTORY, SOCIETY, PHILOSOPHY AND PRACTICE - By Agustin Paniker, First published in Spanish in 2001 as El Jainismo, First published in English in 2010, English translation by David Sutcliffe, 2010 Hardcover Rs. 1395. Modern scholars on Jainism have shown a tendency of throwing up one masterpiece in two decades. In the 1970's, we had Prof. Padmanabh Jaini's THE JAINA PATH OF PURIFICATION. In 1992, we had Paul Dundas' THE JAINS. And in 2010 we have Agustin Paniker's JAINISM. The book is a must read for anyone who wishes to know something about Jainism. Padmanabh Jaini and Paul Dundas occupy the highest echelons of scholarship, and their books enjoy almost cult status in Jain circles. Agustin Paniker has written a book that can be placed alongside their masterpieces. It is a book that covers all possible aspects that a scholar or a casual reader might want to know about the Jain religion. It is probably a first, that all these aspects of Jainism have been dealt with in one book. What makes the achievement more special, is that each aspect has been given the attention it deserves. Without compromising on scholarly exactitude, the author has succeeded in drawing a very clear and lucid picture of Jainism in its various aspects while engaging the reader and remaining highly readable throughout. Perhaps the one criticism that could be leveled against this book - apart from its high price - is that the print quality and font size are both not conducive to easy reading. A book of this prestige (and price!) ought to have been set in a more reader-friendly font. Book is available at Hindi Granth Karyalay, 9 Hirabaug, C. P. Tank, Mumbai 400004, India, E-Mail: Jainbooks@aol.com

THEFT OF IDOLS FROM JAIN TEMPLE IN HOWRAH

KOLKATA, November 1, 2010: More than 250-year-old Digambar Jain temple in Howrah was looted and a large number of idols, silver umbrellas and jewellery were burgled, leaving the community members shocked. Investigators said the burglars were fully familiar with the temple. The Digambar Jain temple is located right off Jetia Ghat Road, not too far from Bally police station. The lone security guard noticed that the gate of the temple had been broken and idols, silver umbrellas and jewellery were missing. The temple also has a 12-ft-high wall around it. The missing articles include six ashtadhatu idols, 13 silver umbrellas, six chakras and chandmalas and gold and silver jewellery. The burglars took only the smaller idols, with the bigger ones and their thrones left untouched. Some of the idols were installed of late. It was a major blow to the sentiments of Jain community of Howrah. Appalled by the spate of robberies in the Jain temples in many parts of the country, trustees of prominent Jain temples in Mumbai held a meeting recently to review security measures. They discovered that most temples were largely guarded by unarmed security constables. Jain temples are prone to thefts due to the presence of jewellery, cash, and, above all, the idols of deities, which are carved out of precious stones. The trustees meeting was followed by a meeting with home minister R. R. Patil and Mangal Prabhat Lodha, a well-known MLA in the community. Many temples are now increasing the guards and CCTV's are also being installed.

THEFT AT SRI NEMESHWARA ADINATHA SWAMY JAIN BASADI AT HIRIYANGADI NEAR KARKALA

Udupi: 500 year old panchaloha statue of Sri Adinatha estimated to cost around Rs. 10 lakh was stolen from Sri Nemeshwara Adinatha Swamy Jain Basadi at Hiriyaangadi near Karkala. However, the police succeeded in finding the idol, but could catch hold of only one culprit among the three who were allegedly involved in the crime. The incident was reportedly occurred at on 28th of October. The secretary of Sri Jain Dharma Jeernodhara Samiti, Vidyakumar Bunnal registered a complaint stating that some culprits broke open the main door of Sri Nemeshwara Adinatha Swamy Jain Basadi at Hiriyaangadi on October 28 between 8 p.m. and 9 a.m. and stole the idol of Sri Adinatha Swamy. The idol weighed 140 kg and was 4.5-foot tall. While the investigation was on, the police was informed by a class eight student about a tempo suspiciously present near the temple. The boy had also noted its registration number. This information helped the police in catching the culprits

EMAILS CAUGHT IN CIRCULATION

SALLEKHANA OR SANTHARA - From: "Anish Shah", E-Mail: arihanta.mangalam@gmail.com - One of our valuable list member Rishabh Sancheti pointed out one article in DNA which tries to equate Sallekhana or Santhara with Suicide and Sati. The link is attached here: www.dnaindia.com

1. Santhara (Sallekhana) and Sati cannot be equated because of two fundamental differences:
 - a. Sati is only for women and that too who are widowed. On the other santhara can be practiced by both men and women, regardless of their marital status.
 - b. Sati is forced, Santhara is optional.
2. Santhara and Suicide cannot be equated because of the two fundamental difference:
 - a. Suicide is due to inflamed passions like anger, depression etc. On the other hand Santhara is a well thought out decision in calm and composed manner.
 - b. Suicide is done privately; Santhara is done after taking permission of the family members and under supervision of a guru.
3. Santhara and "Fast unto death" cannot be equated because of the following fundamental differences:
 - a. "Fast unto death" are political or social in nature. Santhara is for a personal and spiritual reason.
 - b. "Fast unto death" are to coerce or force opposing other parties to submit to their demands. In Santhara there is no coercion or demands.
4. Santhara and "Euthanasia" cannot be equated because of the following fundamental differences:
 - a. In euthanasia, the life is forcefully brought to an end by giving injections etc on compassionate grounds. In Santhara there is no sudden or forceful end of life.

As such, Santhara is so fundamentally different from the above mentioned activities that under no circumstances it can be equated with it. Here the important criteria is fundamental difference. Also the view that Santhara is undertaken by only women is totally false. Examples of Santhara taken by men:

1. Jain muni Amarchand Kasawan www.timesofindia.indiatimes.com
 2. Jethalal Zaveri, founder director of Bharat Bijlee and Walchand Hirachand group. www.jzaveri.com
- There are innumerable examples of men undertaking santhara. As Manishbhai has pointed out before, two high profile non-Jains who took sallekhana in the 20th century are Dharmanand Koshambi and Vinoba Bhave.

But number of cases may be more by women. This is not surprising as women are more spiritually inclined than men eg there are more nuns than monks. Similarly go to any temple or Upashraya, there will be more women than men. Fasting etc. is also undertaken more by women than men. And finally, Santhara is an ideal of each and every Jain. Every Jain who undertakes Pratikraman wishes for a spiritual and equanimous death in by santhara by reciting chapter 18 of Pratikramana Sutra. Unfortunately, the effort to ban Sallekhana is an assault on right to practice religion peacefully. As long as we do not obtain minority rights, these things are going to happen.

What are jain munis doing on facebook?

PC Jain, E-Mail: pjain0905@yahoo.co.in We agree with Hamendra Bhai in totality. Jain Munis should change themselves to become international figures. Think of other saints like Sudhanshuji Maharaj or Bapuji or Nirankari Santji, etc. etc. The world should know the existence and principles of Jainism.

Hemendra Jain, E-Mail: hemendra_in@yahoo.com - I do agree with your views but it is a very minor thing while Munis are having bank accounts & their rooms are equipped with Refrigerators, AC, Coolers, cordless phones etc and what ever you are thinking it is an old phenomena, even more when we have changed our life style then they have a right to do so. Wait & see the amazing things daily. Muni diksha is very difficult but now a days you will find a flood of Munis in all sections of Jains. you are requested to kindly think on the subject.

Amit Prakash Jain, E-Mail: ameetpjain@yahoo.com - This is really embarrassing to see our jain munis having accounts on facebook. I never uses strong words on net and that too for jain groups, but I can't avoid saying this as disgusting. Jina dharam is aparigrahi and our sadhus have got specific code of conduct. How can muni have laptops? These cannot be called as sadhus or else we are insulting the great Jina dharma. I don't have words to express my feelings on this topic. Oh Mahavir you are seeing what is happening???

SAD DEMISE

DR. LAKSHMI CHAND JAIN PASSED AWAY

Magsaysay award winner and renowned Gandhian L C Jain passed away on Sunday, he left behind a legacy that would stay on for ages to come. Hundreds of people gathered at the Gandhi Peace Foundation on Deen Dayal Upadaya Marg on Tuesday to condole the death of Jain, who passed away after a protracted battle with cancer. He was 85.

While friends, colleagues and family members paid glowing tributes to the "extraordinary" person, Gandhi Peace Foundation director Radha Ben said, "He was our soul. He was a great follower of the Gandhian philosophy. He also worked for many artistes." In recent times, Jain had been worried about the Kashmir situation, she added.

Mr. L C Jain was a leading Gandhian and had played an active part in India's independence movement. He was also a highly respected economist and was with the Planning Commission of India. When South Africa achieved liberation from apartheid and the new government of Nelson Mandela was sworn in, Mr. Jain was appointed by the Government of India as our first High Commissioner to South Africa. He is a prolific writer, author of several books and articles and widely respected in civil society circles. He is also a Magsaysay Award winner.

Soon after independence, he worked to organize relief for refugees of the partition. He helped introduce cottage industries into rehabilitation camps. He later campaigned for farm cooperative societies and became a volunteer with the Indian Cooperative Union (ICU). As Secretary of the All-India Handicrafts Board, he promoted decentralized production, introduced direct training and loans to self-employed weavers and carpenters, and organized the Central Cottage Industries Emporium. As a Member of the Planning Commission, he took interest in the development of the North Eastern Region and Khadi and Village Industries. Dr. Lakshmi Chand Jain was known as a fierce opponent of overwhelming state control, and an equally fierce advocate for social action. His efforts to keep alive the legacy of the freedom struggle through the intervention of civil society led to him being awarded the Magsaysay Award in 1988. He subsequently became a member of the Planning Commission where he served from 1989 to 1990. The last years of his life were spent in documenting some of the struggles he had been associated with in a book called 'Civil Disobedience', which will be released on coming December 13.

Speaking on his book 'Civil Disobedience', to be released on December 13, an acquaintance said, "Spanning some of the most eventful decades in India's public life, the book dwells on his early years in Chandni Chowk and growing up in a family of freedom fighters to his role as a member of the underground wing of the Quit India movement and the turbulent years of the Emergency."

The Prime Minister, Dr Manmohan Singh in condolence message to Devaki Jain, wife of the departed leader said " He had lost a dear friend and a valued colleague and said his ideas left a lasting imprint on formulation of public policy in our country. It is with a sense of profound sadness and loss that I learnt about the passing away of your husband Dr. Lakshmi Chand Jain. I had the privilege of knowing Lakshmi for a very long time. He was a great patriot, and a strong believer in Gandhian values and decentralization of power. His ideas left a lasting imprint on formulation of public policy in our country".
