A WAKE UP CALL FOR JAINS

Jain religion has the distinction of being the only scientific religion which gives right to live to human beings and also recognizes the existence of plants & animals. This has lead to many people living in Canada, England, America, Germany, France, Australia to accept Jainism.

But what are we doing in India regarding propagating our religion? In the nation which boasts of population count of a hundred crores only 40 lakhs are Jains. Once we were 15 crores, which came to being 4 crores & now only 40 lakhs. The day will not be far off when the Jain religion becomes extinct.

Our brothers belonging to different sects like Swetamber & Digambar are busy dividing a great religion & its religious heritage.

Certain constitutional rights given to Jains regarding educational trust etc. are also withdrawn by the Central Govt. The Government also proposes to remove Jainism as a religion of India in the next population count. All this is going to happen in the 2600th birth anniversary of Lord Mahavir. Indian constitution had given us some special rights according to which we could admit 50% Jain students & 100% of Jain staff in Jain Educational Institutions. We could have made use of this golden opportunity & produced thousands of doctors, engineers and other professionals. We have failed to do so. But all is not lost as yet, because there are some devoted & committed community members who take pride in being Jains and are committed to form a strong & able Jain community in which sectarianism & inter religious fights will have no place. They will be committed to protect the social, educational & political rights of the Jains.

If this article invokes a desire in you to contribute constructively in any way towards the service of your great religion which truly has the merit of being a global religion.

TECHNOLOGY SUMMIT: THE ECONOMIC TIMES

New Delhi : Vineet Jain, managing director, Bennett, Coleman & Co, Who called him a strategist, a visionary and an adventurer, put it: "The Gates and Microsoft story is about reinventing the corporation to craft the future. "He was welcoming Gates at a technology summit co-hosted by Microsoft and The Economics Times.

As Mrs. Indu Jain, chairman of Bennett, Coleman & Co. illustrating the enormity of the impact he has made to business and life, said: "While ancient seers of India discovered that there are three kinds of spaces - the outer space, the inner space where thoughts and emotions flow and the absolute space of consciousness where the other two spaces exist - Bill Gates has contributed the fourth space Cyberspace."

JAINS ARE MINORITY COMMUNITY

LANDMARK JUDGMENT BY JUSTICE RAJESH BALIA JODHPUR HIGH COURT

In a landmark judgement, the Rajasthan High Court has ruled that Jains are a minority community. The court has said that Jains cannot be deprived of the rights and privileges accorded to minority communities in the Constitution.

The order also stated that the non-issue of the notification relating to the Jains' inclusion as a minority community should not deprive them of the rights and privileges enjoyed by the minority communities.

Justice Rajesh Balia passed this order after admitting a writ petition filed by Vijayshanti Educational Trust of Udaipur. The judge said Jainism was a separate religion and as this community had a limited population, the Jains should be treated as a minority community.

The petitioner had pleaded that in Rajasthan, the population of Jains was a meagre 1.28 percent according to the 1991 census, but it was not given the status of a minority community while Muslims, having a population of 8.01 percent and Sikhs with a 1.48 percent population had been included as minority communities. The petitioner had also stated that the Jain community had a right to reserve 50 percent seats in vocational and educational institutions run by the community. Jains should be given the rights and privileges of a minority community as provided under Article 29 and 30 of the Constitution, he had said. The petitioner had pointed out that the state minority commission had also recommended that Jains should be included in the list of minority communities, but the state government had rejected. MILLENNIUM AHIMSA AWARD TO UN SECRETARY GENERAL KOFI ANNAN

The Jain Mahasabha, Delhi, has suggested to the Central Government and also to the UN that the Mahavir Centenary Year 2001 be designated as Ahimsa Year. The Mahasabha has sought a declaration to this effect as early as possible.

Rikhab Chand Jain, president of the 2600th Janam Kalyanak Mahotsav Samiti, has informed President K. R. Narayanan of the Samiti's decision to establish an international Ahimsa Academy in Delhi to propagate ahimsa as a means for attaining world peace.

The Samiti has also decided to present the Millennium Ahimsa Award to UN Secretary General Kofi Annan. The President has reportedly welcomed the decision. The President K. R. Narayanan described ahimsa as the soul of Indian culture and said Mahavir's philosophy of "live and let live" has acquired greater relevance in the world today.

Earlier, leaders of the Jain Mahasabha, Delhi, an apex organisation of all Jains, led by Dilip Gandhi, MP, met President K. R. Narayanan on the eve of Kshamavani Divas.
